

In 2003 as Joannie Loves Trotsky, we brought you "Our Old Toys Do... Stuff", featuring Fisher-Price Little People, their playset items, and a few miscellaneous props.

For the 100th Williams Trivia contest, Taha Noa Noa brings you a reprise, using a newer favorite toy:

“Minecraft Does... Stuff”

In this bonus, you will be shown custom Minecraft builds at each of forty waypoints. Some builds are literal interpretations of very specific images or scenes; others are more interpretive or general. Some are very small and minimal; others are oversized or exaggerated. The subjects include life, art, TV, movies, myth, and more. At least one has a Williams connection. Click on the link above to see the video of all the builds.

On the answer sheet, identify as best you can - be specific when possible! - what we're representing at each waypoint. You will see the waypoint names within the bonus.

The builds were done in creative mode in vanilla Minecraft, with the only mods used being those necessary to have the map and waypoints (so we could find the builds later :)). Since we built these ourselves, from scratch, specifically for this contest, you aren't going to find these builds online. Similar ones, possibly, but not these. We tried to make the waypoint names generic and non-hint-y rather than clues, so don't over-analyze them.

Minecraft has VERY limited standard hair/body/clothing/fur/eye combos for mobs, and skins and textures were not changed, so keep an open mind :)
