

Lost In Translation

(or Traffic of this Loss)

Putting a Babel fish in your ear translates every language in the galaxy for you perfectly, thereby simultaneously proving the existence and nonexistence of God. Putting AltaVista's Babel Fish translator in your ear merely proves the existence of extremely bad computer-generated translation. It also doesn't fit very well, and might electrocute you.

The following quotations were translated by Babel Fish from English to various other languages, and then translated back into English. They include literary quotes, lines from movies, words of notable people, song lyrics, assorted proverbs, and various other commonly-heard phrases.

Languages potentially in any quotation's long path home include Chinese, Dutch, French, German, Greek, Italian, Japanese, Korean, Portuguese, Russian, and Spanish. No quote has passed through more than seven languages; some have only gone through one.

Please identify the original quotation for us – or, in other words, if first it decides the phrase of report because in us. Obviously.
