ANIME ANYWHERE

(80 points total)

Water. Earth. Grass. Air. Long ago, us Zoomers lived together in harmony. Then, everything changed when COVID-19 attacked. Only touching grass, a rarity for many even before the pandemic, could keep us sane, but when we needed to go outside the most, we retreated. A hundred years passed, and our generation emerged from the dark with a new pastime, a Japanese phenomenon named anime. And although most of us can go outside again, we have a lot to learn before we're ready to be functioning human beings. But in the meantime, we still have anime.

Part 1: Anime OPs (35 points, 1 each)

Questions 1–35.

From 2020–2021, about a tenth of my total social interactions came in the form of Guess the Anime Opening quizzes, and I now have a skill that I won't ever use for anything else. You—or that one friend or family member who'd jump at the chance to do something like this—will be exercising that skill.

At these links, you'll find a compilation of 35 opening songs (OPs) featured in anime alongside screenshots from the animated opening sequences they play over.

For each song clip, provide at least two of the following:

- a. The song's name
- b. The song's band or singer (if covered, the name of the coverer, not the original band/singer)
- c. One anime in which it served as an OP.

Providing only one still nets you half a point.

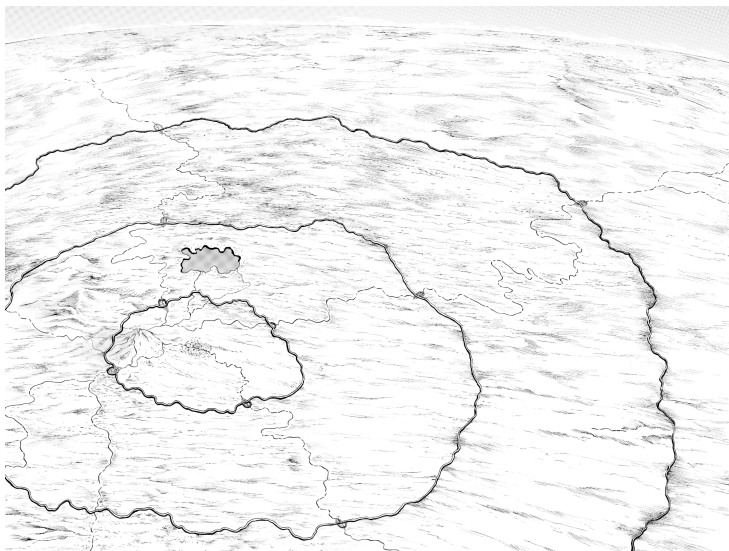

I apologize in advance for the older competitors. We're a young team, so most of these songs come from relatively young anime.

We've provided a list of bands/singers in the table below to ease your suffering. Some appear multiple times, but each band/singer in the list should appear at least once.
