THE MALE GAZE

Sorry ladies; the one thing the trivia community needs is more men

(137 points)

Part I : Tanks but no tanks? (48 points; 1 or 2 each)

Journalists and Russian attack helicopter pilots alike are famously bad at identifying what is or is not a tank. Let's see if you can do better.

You'll be identifying whether or not vehicles are (or were) Main Battle Tanks (MBTs), which Wikipedia helpfully defines as "a tank that fills the role of armor-protected direct fire and maneuver in many modern armies."

Of course, that's not to be confused with armored cars, assault guns, light tanks, heavy tanks, anti-aircraft tanks, Armored Personnel Carriers (APCs), Infantry Fighting Vehicles (IFVs), the umbrella term Armored Fighting Vehicles (AFVs), Mine-Resistant Ambush Protected vehicles (MRAPs), Self-Propelled Guns (SPGs), and the rest of the military acronym salad.

There are 30 images, 12 of which are tanks.

If a vehicle is not a tank, you can get a second point for identifying what kind of vehicle it is (e.g. plane, infantry fighting vehicle, self-propelled gun, light tank). Err on the side of precision, but you don't need to tell us the exact model of vehicle.

Part IV: How often do you think about the Roman Empire?
(XXXII points; 1 each)

Subpart A: *Imperium sine fine

(12 points; 1 each)

Friends, Romans, Countrymen, lend me your eyes!

Men have an inexplicable love for two things: maps and an empire that Europeans insist on reviving every time they conquer the people across the river. Below, we have provided (at enormous cost in lives) twelve blank maps of Roman provinces and a complete list of Roman provinces in 117 CE.

Demonstrate your loyalty for the res publica by correctly naming its provinces. Should you fail, the imperator demands that you execute one-tenth of your team.

#	Image	Which province is this?
72		Britannia
73		Thracia
74		Dacia

75		Gallia Aquitania
76		Macedonia
77		Cappadocia et Galatia
78		Bithynia et Pontus
79		Numidia
80		Africa Proconsularis
81		Lusitania
82		Asia
83		Moesia Superior

92		Liechtenstein
93		Montenegro

Subpart C: *Roma Invicta
(20 points; 2 each)

You know what's more manly than Rome? Rome but WAR.

Rome fought these 10 battles, winning half and losing half. Which did it win? Which did it lose? You can get a second point for identifying who Rome was fighting.

#	Image	Win/Lose?	Who was Rome fighting?
94		Lose	Carthage / Hannibal
