18. 1817. “[title]. These were thrilling words, and wound up Catherine’s feelings to the highest point of ecstasy. Her grateful and gratified heart could hardly restrain its expressions within the language of tolerable calmness. To receive so flattering an invitation!”
19. 1844. “[title] were much attached to their young comrade. The friendship which united these four men, and the need they felt of seeing another three or four times a day, whether for dueling, business, or pleasure, caused them to be continually running after one another like shadows.”
20. 1854. “[title] has both met and made kind o’ friends in this big smoky place.”

21. 1859. "There stood Miss Fairlie, a white figure, alone in the moonlight; in her attitude, in the turn of her head, in her complexion, in the shape of her face, the living image, at that distance and under those circumstances, of [title]."
22. 1883. "Although the sun shone bright and hot, and the shore birds were fishing and crying all around us, and you would have thought anyone would have been glad to get to land after being so long at sea, my heart sank, as the saying is, into my boots; and from the first look onward, I hated the very thought of [title]."
23. 1886. "A conjecture that her visitor might be some other person had, indeed, flashed through Lucetta's mind when she was on the point of bursting out; but it was just too late to recede. He was years younger than [title]: fair, fresh, and slenderly handsome."
24. 1887. "The ring, man, the ring; that was what he came back for. If we have no other way of catching him, we can always bait our line with the ring. I shall have him, Doctor—I'll lay you two to one that I have him. I must thank you for it all. I might not have gone but for you, and so have missed the finest study I ever came across: [title]."
25. 1908. "'Who are you?' demanded Miss Josephine Barry, without ceremony. 'I'm [title].'"
26. 1920. "The papers, of course, had been full of the tragedy. Glaring headlines, sandwiched biographies of every member of the household, subtle innuendoes, the usual familiar tag about the police having a clue. Nothing was spared us. It was a slack time. The war was momentarily inactive, and the newspapers seized with avidity on this crime in fashionable life: '[title]' was the topic of the moment."
27. 1927. "Only James (certainly the Sullen) scowled at the lamp; and Cam screwed her handkerchief round her finger. Then he reminded them that they were going [title]"

30. 1939. "One little soldier boy left all alone; He went and hanged himself [title]."
31. 1943. "To think that the Music Master himself, the Magister Musicae in person, would be coming to Berolfingen! There was only one person in the world whom Joseph might have regarded as still more legendary and mysterious: the Master of [title]"
32. 1951. "What I have to do, I have to catch everybody if they start to go over the cliff--I mean if they're running and they don't look where they're going I have to come out from somewhere and catch them. That's all I'd do all day. I'd just be [title] and all."
33. 1954. "They were black and iridescent green and without number; and in front of Simon, [title] hung on his stick and grinned."
34. 1955. "[title], light of my life, fire of my loins."
35. 1955. "Here Bilbo's hand ended and Frodo had written: THE DOWNFALL OF THE LORD OF THE RINGS AND [title]"
36. 1957. "The golden tide, the essence of this fine fair month ran, then gushed from the spout below, to be crocked, skimmed of ferment, and bottled in clean ketchup shakers, then ranked in sparkling rows in cellar gloom. [title]."

37. 1957. "With our last two food dollars he placed still another bet and lost. We had to hitchhike back to San Francisco. I was [title]."
38. 1960. "That's why it's a sin [title]."
39. 1962. "'It's a book,' I said. 'It's a book what you are writing.' I made the old goloss very coarse. 'I have always had the strong-est admiration for them as can write books.' Then I looked at its top sheet, and there was the name - [title]."
40. 1963. "Muir repeated the signal and then began putting it, in the five-figure groups that had come off the Triple X machine, on to the teleprinter. Bond watched the message go, the end of another chapter of his duties, as Marc-Ange had put it, [title]."
41. 1982. "Trying to chase that old white man out of my head. I been so busy thinking bout him I never truly notice nothing God make. Not a blade of corn (how it do that?) not [title]."
42. 1985. "As you all know, he is the co-editor, with Professor Knotly Wade, also of Cambridge, of the manuscript under consideration today, and was instrumental in its transcription, annotation, and publication. The title of his talk is 'Problems of Authentication in Reference to [title].'"
43. 1985. "And so, for the length of the mission, everyone had to eat gammon with pineapple, pineapple upside-down cake, chicken in pineapple sauce, pineapple chunks, pineapple slice. 'After all,' said my mother philosophically, '[title].'"
44. 1997 "Who was he, the one-armed man? Who could he have been? The God of Loss? [title]?"
45. 2005. "That night, Liesel Meminger truly became [title]."
46. 2006. "Red was the blood of the siblings massacred in the North, black was for mourning them, green was for the prosperity Biafra would have, and, finally, the [title]."
47. 2007. "But then I'd be lying. I know I've thrown a lot of fantasy and sci-fi in the mix but this is supposed to be a true account of [title]."
48. 2008. "The Treaty of Treason gave us the new laws to guarantee peace and, as our yearly reminder that the Dark Days must never be repeated, it gave us [title]."
49. 2017. "[title], Holmesy. You're trying to find the turtle at the bottom of the pile, but that's not how it works."
50. 2018. "I don't know what's wrong with me, says Marianne. I don't know why I can't be like [title]."

Part 3: Plays

51. 1888. "[title], they don't love you. They take your food, but they spit at it behind your back. God, listen to what they're singing! No—God, no, don't listen!"
52. 1893. "Oh! no one. No one in particular. [title]."
53. 1898. "[title], wait! We shall rest. [She embraces him] We shall rest. [The WATCHMAN'S rattle is heard in the garden; TELEGIN plays softly; MME. VOITSKAYA writes something on the margin of her pamphlet; MARINA knits her stocking] We shall rest."
54. 1944. "AMANDA [hopelessly fingering the huge pocketbook]: So what are we going to do the rest of our lives? Stay home and watch the parades go by? Amuse ourselves with [title], darling?"

55. 1949. “Cause what could be more satisfying than to be able to go, at the age of eighty-four, into twenty or thirty different cities, and pick up a phone, and be remembered and loved and helped by so many different people? Do you know? When he died — and by the way he died the [title].”
56. 1952. “We are no longer alone, waiting for the night, [title].”
57. 1962. “I...am...George... [title].”
