

Synthetic Supergroups

The answer to each question in this bonus will be a combination of something named after multiple people and some people who share their names with the people that thing is named after. For example, a question could read, "The MVP of Super Bowl LII and Ravi Shankar's oldest daughter fall for one another following a night of shenanigans." The answer would be "Nick Foles and Norah Jones's Infinite Playlist," as the first part alludes to Nick Foles, the second to Norah Jones, and the third to Nick and Norah's Infinite Playlist.

1. The creator of Calvin and Hobbes and a US Senator elected to serve eight terms play Battleship with Death.
2. The king of England who died at the Battle of Hastings and the host of The Mash Report search for fast food.
3. The king of England who won the Battle of Hastings and the role that won Julie Andrews her Oscar co-founded the oldest university in Virginia.
4. The man who co-founded Tuskegee University with Lewis Adams and the man Jack Ruby shot to death in Dallas co-founded the second-oldest university in Virginia.
5. The 14th President of the United States and the first African-American justice on the United States Supreme Court co-founded a liberal arts school in Pennsylvania.
6. Two US Presidents manufacture Tylenol.
7. The stars of Sissi and Glee claim that they invented Post-It notes.
8. The King of Swing tries to convince his sister, RM from BTS, to live in a group home instead of dating Sam while inadvertently popularizing The Proclaimers.
9. The Millville Meteor and the star of Sixteen Candles are married in Chicago.
10. One of the stars of Weird Science and the author of Black Water perform "Private Eyes" together.
11. A six-time WWE champion and one of the stars of The Breakfast Club are the subjects of a now-cancelled Disney Channel show about musicians.
12. The patron saint of sailors and the singer of "I Fall to Pieces" duet about their grandmother's hit-and-run incident on Christmas Eve.
13. The full name of a woman who engaged in intercourse with Ray J on camera and an Oscar-winner for It Happened One Night produce Kleenex.
14. The 2012 US Olympic gold medalist in women's floor and the third man to pitch a no-hitter for the Florida Marlins are sisters who released the RIAA-certified platinum single "Potential Breakup Song."
15. The founder of Mormonism and the winner of season 2 of Survivor sell handguns.
16. The man who played Nosferatu in Nosferatu and the woman who played Stella Carlin on Orange is the New Black are brother and sister rabbits on Nick Jr.
17. One of the stars of Dawson's Creek and one of the stars of the Harry Potter films are the subjects of a critically panned 2018 film, where they're portrayed by Will Ferrell and John C. Reilly.
18. The recently deceased co-creator of Spider-Man and the weatherman for the Quahog Channel 5 News are portrayed by Steve Coogan and John C. Reilly in a 2018 biopic about a comedy duo.

19. The actress who played Tina Kennard on The L Word and the English mathematician who discovered Ramanujan perform as a comedy duo and are the subjects of the above biopic.
20. A two-time Prime Minister of the United Kingdom and Sabrina Spellman's cat co-found the fifth-most populous city in North Carolina.
21. A two-time Prime Minister of the United Kingdom and the title character of an All in the Family spin-off fall for one another despite their 61 year age difference.
22. The redheaded main character of Futurama and an Oscar-nominated actress for Lady Bird perform sketch comedy with a soupy twist.
23. The actor and actress who play the married Bowdens in the 1991 remake of Cape Fear star on a reality TV show about the early years of their marriage. Chicken of the Sea makes an appearance.
24. The voice of Marge Simpson and an Emmy winner for The New Adventures of Old Christine cook French cuisine in 2002 and the 1950s.
25. The woman who spread typhoid fever around the New York City metro area and a fictional character portrayed by Mel Gibson and Tom Hardy are penpals in a 2009 stop motion film.
26. The composer of the Miami Vice theme song and a 2004 presidential candidate-turned-DNC chairman sing "Surf City."
27. An Oscar nominee for All About Eve and an Oscar winner for One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest drive off a cliff together.
28. The singer of "A Change Is Gonna Come" and the founder of Wendy's are soul men.
29. The director of Argo and the producer of Con Air make New York Super Fudge Chunk.
30. A slammin' golfer and an AI voiced by Matt Frewer are a dog and a rabbit also known as the Freelance Police.
31. The founder of Walmart and the only female Iron Chef on the first ten seasons of Iron Chef America are roommates in a spin-off of iCarly and Victorious.
32. A winner of back-to-back Best Actor Oscars and the singer of "Great Balls of Fire" fight one another as cartoon characters.
33. The author of Go Set a Watchman and the former drummer for Genesis publish books.
34. Posh Spice and an American Idol host for the first nine seasons befriend one another despite their cultural differences.
35. The Golden Bear and the previous Second Lady of the United States want a bucket full of water.
36. The star of Bee Movie and the star/main character of Curb Your Enthusiasm create a precursor to Yahoo!
37. The main character of The Nightmare Before Christmas and an Oscar winner for Annie Hall are two American kids doing the best they can.
38. Half of OutKast and the rapper of "Flex (Ooh, Ooh, Ooh)" collaborate on "Save a Horse (Ride a Cowboy)."
39. The actor who plays the grandfather in The Princess Bride, the Speaker of the House from 2015 to 2019, and the author of Frankenstein sing "Puff, the Magic Dragon."

40. An actor who played the Doctor on Doctor Who, a Swedish tennis player who won 11 Grand Slams, and a recently deceased Arizona senator sing "Young Folks."
41. The author of "Self-Reliance," the star of the original Hairspray movie, and the former lead singer of The Power Station sing "Fanfare for the Common Man."
42. The former host of The Price is Right, Brie Larson's upcoming Captain Marvel character, the Unabomber, and the author of The Lovely Bones attempt to have a foursome to alleviate the tension in their relationship.

