

Hooray! It's a Whole Bonus on North Dakota, South Dakota, Wyoming, Nebraska, and West Virginia!

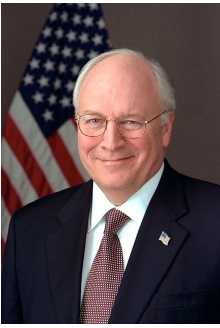

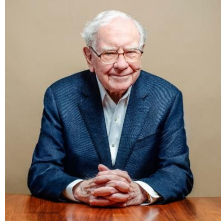

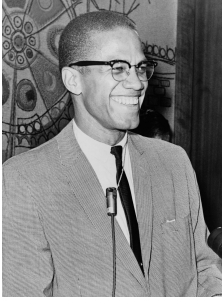

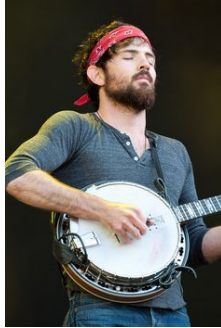

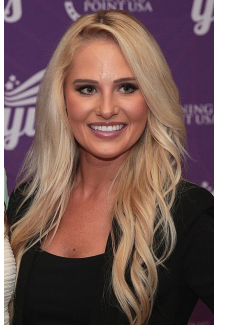

A bonus regarding the states that have no Williams students on campus in the 2018-2019 school year.

Part 1: An Extremely Brief Miscellaneous Section

1. Some of the states in question contain national parks. Name all of the national parks at least partially in one of these states, for a half-point each.
2. Four of the capitals of these states are named after individuals, and the fifth is named after a group of people. Once again, for a half-point each, give the first and last name of the people who lend their names to the capitals, and for the fifth half-point, name the group.
3. The states in question border thirteen states (excluding each other) and two Canadian provinces. Name all of them.

Part 2: Probably Not Your Hometown Heroes

On the next page is a gallery of 20 pictures of people. All of them were born in either North Dakota, South Dakota, Wyoming, Nebraska, or West Virginia. For a point each, name each person pictured. For an extra half point each, name the state where each person was born.
